Humanities Responders for Community Needs

Calling for Humanities partnerships and projects. The Center for the Humanities is calling students to serve as humanities responders for community needs. As Wisconsin and the world navigate this pandemic, the Center for the Humanities needs students to participate in projects that serve and bolster the current work of community organizations, non-profits, cultural institutions, and public agencies. Students are encouraged to apply through the Humanities Exchange (HEX) programs, which will supply funds of up to $2000 as well as project acceptance. Honors Advising is working hard to ensure that there is a worldwide, inclusive opportunity for students to participate in this project. For any questions about the HEX programs, please contact honors@honors.ls.wisc.edu.

Fulbright U.S. Student Program

The Fulbright U.S. Student Program is designed to give soon-to-graduate students in any major the opportunity to live abroad and understand other cultures and languages while they are still in school. The Fulbright U.S. Student Program is open to U.S. citizens who are undergraduate and graduate students, in all fields of study, regardless of academic stage, degree, or future career plans. The program is committed to providing a unique intercultural experience that can launch lifelong professional and personal development, and a year (2021/22), an additional Fulbright award would provide funding for artists opportunities for personal development and international experience. If you’re graduating in May 2021, a Fulbright award would provide funding for artists opportunities for personal development and international experience.
